Hi guys,

I've been asked by W Lothian Council to put up some more signage around the Livingston path network, and I'm wondering if anyone might be available to help. The job will take about 3 weeks and will start probably 2nd week in March (in theory the money has to be spent by end of March).

However much or little time you could manage would be appreciated.

The work involves going round the paths putting up signs on lampposts.

Since it involves a ladder, it really needs two people. I'm happy to go up the ladder and the other job is to steady it, hand signs up, check they're pointing in right direction etc. The signs are carried in a trailer behind my bike. We will have a local base to work out from (and shelter if weather turns bad), and I normally take the train out and back.

All expenses will be paid, and something on top.

Grateful for any help,

Peter
